WRITTEN OPINION OF THE INTERNATIONAL SEARCHING AUTHORITY (SEPARATE SHEET)

International application No. IAP12 ROO'S PET/FTO 25 FEB 2006 PCT/EP2004/009580

Re Item IV.

The application lacks unity within the meaning of Rule 13 PCT for the following reasons:

The separate inventions/groups of inventions are:

- 1-33,88-100
 - An energy recovery system comprising a first heat exchanger, an expansion unit, an electromechanical conversion unit and a cooling system
- 34-50
 - A radial inflow turbine unit comprising a housing, a shaft, a turbine comprising a first and a second stage.
- 51-68
 - A bearing for supporting a shaft comprising a bearing member.
- 69-87
 - A rotary magnetic coupling comprising a first and a second rotary member.
- 101-111
 - A working fluid purification system comprising an expansion tank, a diaphragm and a control valve

They are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept (Rule 13.1 PCT) for the following reasons:

There is no link between the inventions claimed in claims 1, 34, 51, 69 and 101 in terms of the same or corresponding "special technical features" that define a contribution that the claimed invention considered as a whole makes over the prior art.

The application relates therefore to a plurality of inventions, or groups of inventions, in the sense of Rule 13.1 PCT. No further invitation to pay further additional fees will be issued. This is because Article 17(3)(a) PCT stipulates that the ISA shall establish the International Search Report on those parts of the international application which relate to the invention first mentioned in the claims ('main invention') and for those parts which relate to inventions in respect of which the additional fees were paid. Neither the PCT nor the PCT guidelines provide a legal basis for further invitations to pay further additional search fees (W17/00, point 11 and W1/97, points 11-16).

2 INDEPENDENT CLAIMS 1 AND 88

The present application does not meet the criteria of Article 33(1) PCT, because the subject-matter of claim 1 is not new in the sense of Article 33(2) PCT.

Document D1 discloses an energy recovery system comprising a first heat exchanger (13E, fig.1), an expansion unit (16E), an electromechanical conversion unit (18E) and a cooling system 21E as described in claim 1.

Also the other documents cited with an "X" in the search report are considered novelty destroying documents. The most relevant passages are cited in the search report.

The features describing the control of the alternator are merely one of several straightforward possibilities from which the skilled person would select, in accordance with circumstances, without the exercise of inventive skill, in order to solve the problem posed so that the subject-matter of claim 88 does not involve an inventive step in the sense of Article 33(3) PCT.

3 DEPENDENT CLAIMS 2-33, 89-100

Dependent claims 2-4, 11-14, 16, 21, 23, 25, 28, 30 do not contain any features which, in combination with the features of any claim to which they refer, meet the requirements of the PCT in respect of novelty (Article 33(2)PCT). The most relevant passages are cited in the search report. Also the other dependent claims do not seem to contain features which meet the requirements of the PCT in respect of inventive step (Article 33 (3) PCT). They are considered merely one of several straightforward possibilities from which the skilled person would select, in accordance with circumstances, without the exercise of inventive skill, in order to solve the problem posed.

The dependent claims describes furthermore different subject matters not having common technical features so that in future examination of amended claims unity problem may occur.

4 The invention is industrial applicable.
